SOVIET-MONGOLIAN TRADE AGREEMENT

Pravda
Moscow, 27 Dec 1953

As a result of negotiations between the Ministry of Foreign Trade USSR and the Mongolian Trade Delegation, an agreement for an exchange of commodities in 1954 between USSR and the Mongolian People's Republic was signed on 26 December 1953.

The agreement provides for an exchange of commodities customary in Soviet-Mongolian trade. The USSR will supply the Mongolian People's Republic with food and manufactured consumer goods (including cotton, wool, and silk textiles), sugar, flour, petroleum products, motor vehicles, and equipment. The Mongolian People's Republic will supply the USSR with livestock, wool, creamery butter, raw leather, and other animal products.

The agreement was signed by S. A. Borisov, Acting Minister of Foreign Trade USSR, and P. Bator Minister of Trade of the Mongolian People's Republic.
